Use the regular weight for standard 24px controls. Strong adds emphasis at compact sizes.
A 24px icon still needs a 48px pointer target and a visible keyboard focus indicator.
Next to visible text, mark the icon decorative. In an icon-only button, name the button.
Service availability and validation states require text; shape or colour alone is insufficient.
Keep the detailed brand logo and favicon in the separate Aroha brand icon family.

Production & implementation

SVG source, sprites, transparent PNGs and an optional typed React adapter.

SVG: regular and strong weights in currentColor, forest and white.
PNG: regular forest/white at 24, 48 and 96px, with true alpha transparency.
Sprites: web/aroha-icons-regular.svg and aroha-icons-strong.svg; IDs start with aroha-.
React: ArohaIcon.tsx with typed icon names, size, weight and optional accessible title.

Inline SVG and sprites can inherit CSS colour. Image-tag SVGs use their own document colour.
Use a same-origin sprite URL, or inline the sprite once if external use is unsuitable.
The catalogue preview has search, categories, colour/size/weight controls and source download.

Art is language-neutral; localise visible labels. Access and amenity claims need verified details.
The icon paths are custom artwork. Material design variables were a reference, not source artwork.
Preview fonts reuse Lora and Source Sans 3, with their original OFL licences included.
